Meeting Of State Committee Is Enthusiastic

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

More enthusiasm was generated Friday afternoon at a meeting of the Democratic state central committee, as weaknesses in the Benson farm plan were pointed out, than was shown at a dinner meeting in Norfolk Thursday night when 450 people heard the secretary of agriculture defend his policies.

Fred Wallace, Gibbon farmer and former administrator of the A. A. A., pointed out the fallacies of Benson's claim that administration of farm problems was being returned to the farmers.

"While administrator I never considered the politics of farm-elected members of our committees," Wallace declared. "They were at least 60 per cent Republican, but our only interest was that they be sincere in trying to solve the problems of agriculture. Secretary Benson first inaugurated a policy that members could not be re-elected after serving a three-year term. When the pressure was applied to permit re-election, he limited their hours of work and put all control in an appointed administrative officer. It appears that regimentation is being increased rather than decreased."

Wallace read from a committee report by Rep. Clifford Hope (R) Kan., in which it was pointed out that business has received subsidies of $45,000,000 since the end of World War II and that farm subsidies have been only $3,500,000 since the program was initiated 20 years ago.

Chairman Lawrence Brock, Wakefield, won approval of his recommendation that the Democratic campaign be waged on a three point plan: (1) parity and support prices; (2) public power including the Dixon-Yates contract and the Missouri Basin criteria and (3) taxes and highways.

State headquarters will be set up in Lincoln.

Recommendations of Brock as officers of the state central committee were approved as follows: First Vice Chairman, Willard Tines, Benkelman; Second Vice Chairman, Leo Hines, Benkelman; Vice-Chairman, Esie Davis, Hyannis; Secretary, Joseph A. Gish, Lincoln; Treasurer, Leo J. Beck, Lincoln; Executive Secy. to Chairman, Catharine Truman, Omaha; Assistant Chairman, First Congressional Dist., Hale McCown, Omaha; Second Congressional Dist., John P. Malnehl, Omaha; Third Congressional Dist., Henry Lee, Wayne; Fourth Congressional Dist., Thane Davis, Lincoln.

First district members with the attendance heavy from the Lincoln area opposed Brock's recommendation.

"The roof was falling in and the building burned right on down," he said.

Patino Baby Battle To Get Court Hearing

PARIS (AP)—The Patino-Goldsmith custody battle over the frail four-month-old Isabela Goldsmith ranged Friday from a private civil court hearing to a luxurious apartment-nursery on the swank Bois de Boulogne Park.

The two grandmothers of the multi-million dollar heiress to British hotel and Bolivian tin fortunes were drawn into the fight.

Judge Jean Ausset will decide Saturday whether the motherless infant will live with her father and her Goldsmith grandmother in the Bois de Boulogne flat especially furnished for her or with her Spanish blue-blood Patino grandmother in Versailles.

Smiling after the court hearing and a solemn judiciary inspection of the apartment-nursery, James Goldsmith said he had strong hopes of winning custody. The child's 18-year-old mother, the former Isabela Patino, died just after bearing the infant Isabela in the tragic climax of her runaway romance with 21-year-old Goldsmith.

Mrs. Antenor Patino, estranged wife of the Bolivian tin magnate, has asked the court to give her the custody of the child after Goldsmith filed a charge of "non-presentation of child."

The Casper-Alvaca Irrigation District obtained the injunction Aug. 5 after assistant Interior Secretary Andahl announced that 150,000 acre feet of irrigation water would be released from Alvaca Dam and sold to North Platte Irrigation District water users for $2.25 an acre foot.

The Casper-Alvaca water users brought action contending that the sale of the water violated Wyoming state law prohibiting the sale of Wyoming water without express consent of the state legislature.

The injunction was later modified to permit release of 25,000 acre feet of water to be loaned to the Goshen Irrigation District which signed a contract to repay the Casper-Alvaca water users with irrigation water at a future date.

State Has Ingredients Needed To Industrialize

Business Leaders At Symposium Learn, Believe Job Can Be Done

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

Nebraska has the qualities needed for industrialization and more than 200 business leaders attending the all-day Nebraska Industrial Symposium left with the feeling that the job can be done.

Enthusiasm at the meeting ran high as small groups of business leaders gathered at intervals to discuss among themselves the attitudes and expressions of the battery of 10 speakers who appeared on the program—speakers of prominence who saw in Nebraska a land of unmatched opportunity for industrial growth.

A number of Nebraska attributes cropped up time and time again in the remarks of the 10 panel members. Chief among these were:

1. A vast supply of natural resources, particularly power and water.
2. Ample room for development.
3. A location in the center of both the labor market and the market for finished products.
4. A population of high character, ability and determination.

Ingredients

In the words of W. M. Brandes, vice president, Elgin National Watch Co., Elgin, Ill., "Nebraska has all the necessary ingredients for successful industrialization."

Many wise and experienced men, Brandes told the group, scoffed at the thought of Elgin locating a plant in Nebraska— "an uncivilized land of cowboys and Indians."

But Elgin has proven that Nebraska is a good place for industry, he said. He cited the advantages of Lincoln and Nebraska as an industrial center: as being relatively secure from a military standpoint (bombing), readily accessible from both rail and air, excellent living conditions, a high social and cultural life and adequate room for growth.

Accessibility

The primary consideration of the Beeton, Dickinson & Co., Rutherford, N.Y., and Columbus, Neb., manufacturers of medical instruments, in locating in Nebraska was this state's accessibility to all markets, according to F. S. Dickinson Jr., company president.

The business leaders were urged by Dickinson to carefully appraise and evaluate the industrialization of the state and to take steps to conserve the natural resources. He pointed also to the need for regional planning for an orderly expansion of industry.

The high quality of achievement in the Lincoln plant of Western Electric was cited by R. F. Clifford, Chicago, Ill., company vice president, as proof of the industrial potential of this area.

The Lincoln Western Electric plant, he stated, ranks among the top in efficiency, quality of production, safety, low labor turn over and high overall community responsibility.

Expansion

Pointing to the expansion in industry over the past 20 years, Kenneth Kramer, New York, executive editor of Business Week magazine, stated that "the next two decades will surely be one of the most exciting periods of American economic history."

Increases in population in the Farm Belt or mid-west area as well as the seaboard, and expanded work markets, Kramer reported, will mean more factories will have to be built.

Citing the great plains area as a great potential market, Kramer asserted that these factories "generally will be built closer to the markets. It's all part of the decentralization of industry."

"It is one way to beat down the cost of distribution and transportation. It is the way to bring the size of industrial plants to manageable proportions."

"I suspect that somehow a certain amount of these new plants will sprout in Nebraska ..."

Water

As to Nebraska's natural resources, E. C. Reed, state geologist, University of Nebraska, asserted that "our water resources can not be duplicated elsewhere."

In addition, he noted, there is yet to be tapped a vast supply of natural gas that is even now producing in substantial quantities.

Nebraska's ground water supplies, asserted Reed, could be utilized to an extent of a 20 billion

Polio Claims 2nd Cheyenne County Victim

SIDNEY, Neb. (AP)—Clyde Chick, 76, of Sidney, died Friday in a Scottsbluff hospital of polio.

Chick, who became the second person from Cheyenne County to die from the disease this year, was taken to Scottsbluff Thursday.

The other victim of the disease was Mrs. Lydia Plein, 62, who died a month ago.

The county has had 12 polio cases to date. A 13th case was under observation Friday.

Mary Lou Dowart, 6, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Dowart of Sidney, became ill earlier in the week, but her case had not been diagnosed as polio late Friday.

The Dowart's son, Billy, 5, is hospitalized with bulbar polio.

Cheyenne County so far this week has recorded seven polio cases. State Health Department officials have left up to local doctors whether mass inoculations of Gamma Globulin should be offered.

A spokesman for the State Health Department was quoted here as saying if a town the size of Sidney had 12 cases in a week GG shots should be given.

Mother, Daughter Hurt In Collision

Mrs. Oscar S. Barnett, 46, of 240 So. 44th, and her daughter, Norma, 13, were hospitalized for injuries Friday following a car-truck collision at 40th and L.

Mrs. Barnett was reported in good condition at St. Elizabeth's Hospital after suffering head injuries, injury to her left cheek bone and right shoulder.

Her daughter was released after treatment for abrasions to her leg and face and a slight back injury.

The investigating officer said the truck, owned by W. C. Bullock and driven by Robert E. Brethouwer, 24, of 2619½ No. 50th, was going north on 40th.

The car, driven by Mrs. Barnett, was traveling east on L, the officer said. The truck pushed the car, following the impact, on to the northeast corner of the intersection, where the car overturned on its side, he said.

Oxygen Fails—$50,000 Bull Dies

OLD WESTBURY, N. Y. (AP)—A Black Angus bull valued at $50,000 died at the C. V. Whitney farm despite efforts to save his life by putting him in an oxygen tent.

The bull, known as Ankonian 3263, contracted pneumonia last Saturday and his temperature went up to 106 degrees.

The farm manager's wife, Mrs. Ivor Balding, said, however, the bull died of a heart attack after he was taken out of the tent.

Badberg Is New Assistant Chief

Henry W. Badberg, 58, has assumed his duties as first assistant fire chief, succeeding R. T. Tucker who retired Sept. 1.

Badberg formerly held two positions on the Fire Department staff—second assistant chief and master mechanic. His salary remains at $375 per month.

The new assistant chief joined the department in 1925 and was named master mechanic in 1942.

Replacing Badberg as master mechanic will be Samuel A. Hesser, 39, Badberg's former assistant. Hesser will have charge of all fire fighting equipment.

He became a fireman in 1937. Hesser's promotion means an increase in salary from $310 to $355 per month.

'It's Ike's Record Vs. Trumanism'

... Nixon

S. T. LOUIS (AP)—Vice President Nixon said Friday night the real 1954 election issue was the Eisenhower record versus a return to Trumanism.

Nixon told a $100-a-plate Republican fund-raising dinner that in less than two years the American people have regained their historic birthright as free people which they had exchanged for a "mess of pottage."

"How the Eisenhower administration performed, therefore, is the major issue in this campaign," Nixon said in a prepared speech. "There is no other real issue. And the opposition spokesmen know this."

"The prophets of gloom and doom first predicted a Republican depression. But the rug was pulled out from under them when the depression didn't come off."

"Now all they offer the American people is a sterile, negative campaign based on name calling and unfounded smear. They have had to admit that all they can offer is a return to Trumanism."

Obviously tired by three days of vigorous campaigning in the Midwest but still smiling, Nixon arrived here by chartered plane from Nevada, Mo., where earlier in the day he said the Eisenhower administration deserves a vote of confidence and a Republican Congress in November because it ended the Korean War and brought new hope to a free world.

Jeary To Recommend New Traffic Ticket Auditing System

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

Mayor Clark Jeary will recommend to the City Council Monday adoption of a new system of traffic ticket auditing as a result of the dismissal last week by Police Chief Joseph Carroll of a radar speeding ticket issued to District Judge Harry A. Spencer.

Advised by Welfare and Safety Director Emmett Junge of the dismissal, Jeary asked for a complete written report of the incident.

Following receipt of this report, Jeary stated that he was "not too critical of Carroll's action but the Chief should have taken no action at all."

Jeary stated that the dismissal was in violation of a City Council ruling that tickets issued for moving traffic violations could be dismissed by no one except the Municipal Court judge or the city prosecutor. Dismissal of the ticket, Jeary said, was not within the jurisdiction of the chief of police.

Dismissal Rule
Junge reported that he was not aware of the ruling on dismissals. The ruling was established when Ray Osborn was welfare and safety director.

The entire matter will be presented to the full Council Monday, said Jeary, and any action it wants to take on the matter will be followed. The possibility of Judge Spencer's later arraignment in court on the traffic violation charge was mentioned by Jeary. The Council, Jeary stated, has considered for some time the installation of a traffic ticket auditing system. This, he explained, would be a system whereby numbered traffic tickets would be issued from the City Hall to the police department.

A record of the tickets issued the department would be kept and the final disposition of all tickets checked from time to time.

Duplicates
The Police Department now uses a duplicate traffic ticket system. Police officers make two copies of tickets issued, one copy going to the violator and the other into the department.

While the theory is that the ticket numbers provide an adequate checking system, Junge reported, the system has not worked out in actual practice.

Commenting on the speeding ticket issued Judge Spencer, Police Chief Joseph Carroll said there was a "question of doubt as to the validity of the arrest" and "after making a personal investigation (of the circumstances) I dismissed the ticket."

Carroll admitted he "was contacted" by Judge Spencer before reviewing the summons and incident.

Other Cars
The chief explained that "three or four other cars were in the sphere of influence (on the radar) during the time" that Spencer's car was clocked. The alleged violation occurred at 52nd and O at 12:15 p.m. on Aug. 28.

The officer who operated the radar has "admitted (to me) that there could have been some doubt" in the clocking of the Spencer car, Carroll said.

Carroll admitted the radar device can individually clock each car traveling in a rather close group, but said there's the possibility of operator error in these situations.

When there's doubt as to individual clockings, the radar officers are "instructed to issue warning tickets," Carroll said.

In the cases of a summons having been issued, Carroll said the tickets have been dismissed where "doubt in the case" is raised in subsequent investigation or review.

City Prosecutor
According to Jeary, the decision on dismissal is supposed to be reached by the city prosecutor. While Carroll reported he had advised the city legal department of the Spencer situation, Jeary pointed out the legal department had no part in the dismissal.

City Prosecutor John Binning reported that so far as he could remember, he has "never dismissed a radar speeding ticket on the possibility of error on the part of the operator."

Binning stated that the Municipal Court has never recognized error on the part of the operator as an adequate defense to a radar clocking. The specific defense of cars traveling so close together as to confuse the operator has been raised, Binning said, but has never been honored by the Court.

One case involving such a defense is now on appeal to District Court, Binning stated. His case will eventually come on for hearing before Judge Spencer.

No Ticket
No ticket was issued on the "car that Spencer was following," Carroll said. (It was understood a car near Spencer's had been clocked at 38 miles per hour in a 35-mile per hour zone).

Judge Spencer, who is one of Lancaster County's four district judges, has been out of town since Thursday and was not available Friday for comment on latest developments.

However, when contacted earlier by a newsmen, Spencer said no court complaint had been issued on the summons and he understood that none would be.

Not Atom Bombs—Just Engineers

The series of explosions Friday southwest of Lincoln was not the result of atomic bombs or the landing of men from Mars.

The Sheriff's office reported that the series of explosions were set off by county engineers "blowing up a concrete bridge abutment south of the Yankee Hill Company."

The work is part of the construction of a new bridge to replace an old structure that has deteriorated and is unsafe for traffic.

Watkins The Restorer

The Watkins committee is closing its hearings on the censure charges against Sen. McCarthy with credit to itself. The proceedings have been dignified, calm and equitable, fully in keeping with the public's estimation of the dignity and soundness of its highest legislative body.

Sen. McCarthy was ready with his usually successful devices but his attempted diversions, his cries of "foul" tell barren. The Watkins committee wanted only the facts, no heroics and nothing that was not germane to its business.

The committee's report will not be delayed and there is every evidence that it will be objective, forthright and uncolored.

Whether it will dispose of the matter is another question.

That will depend upon the Senate itself. But whatever the formal result, the Watkins hearings have already achieved a good purpose. They restored the tone and character of congressional hearings and brought emotionalism to heel. There will always be reason to be watchful of Communist subversives as there will be reason for congressional investigations of other activities running contrary to the best and lofty interests of America. But Congress is emerging from the carnival and the emotional approach to these serious matters. It has had its binge and its hangover. The Watkins committee hearings turned the corner toward sobriety, objectivity and dignity. It has performed one of the most distinguished acts of the past Congress as time will prove.

Eden's Move Was Timely

Anthony Eden, it must be said, performed a service of value to the West when he stepped in to end the vacuum that enveloped Europe as the result of the collapse of the European Defense Community plan.

Eden was able to win a general consent for a NATO-like arrangement which proposes to give Germany a suitable place in the family of free European nations. It was an act akin to plugging the hole in the dike with his finger, in itself not a thing that would repair the dike but an act that certainly prevented a general breaching.

Upon his return to London Eden did not say his mission had produced an accomplished fact. Rather he said that it only opened a way for an attack on the knotty details of such an arrangement. But it is true that his negotiations gave direction and movement to a European situation that was decaying. Out of it may come a satisfactory working agreement or from it may stem fresh approaches. As long as free Europe works for unity and against Red aggression the situation is confidence-inspiring.

Eden's stroke was not complimentary to United States diplomacy. Mr. Dulles, whose hopes were pinned on EDC, was not on the scene. Rather he was heavily occupied in the Far East giving a mutual defense agreement with nations there a promising thrust. The fact is the United States at the moment had nothing to offer in Europe. Its leadership was momentarily at the zero point.

That is not a happy situation for the West's mightiest proponent. Leadership is best demonstrated by success. And say what one will, American statecraft the past two years has had hard sledding.

But loss of face should not color American reaction to the British move-in. It was a timely act and comforting in its demonstration that the United States has allies not only skilled in statecraft but sensitive enough to deteriorating situations to intervene for the benefit of all. Britain's voice has taken on clarity and strength. It is a more valuable ally than it was before Eden's trip. It would be better for the United States if other European powers did less following and more positive contributing.

The Western cause is based on co-operation. That is the quality that distinguishes it from the Communist cause of unity by conquest. It is an error for the United States to provide all the leadership even though not by aggression. As rapidly as the Western members each take their places as full participating forces that rapidly will the co-operative spirit of the West overmatch the force rule of Communism.

The good that can be said at the conclusion of Eden's busy week is that Western co-operation has been greatly strengthened and the Europe's defense against Red aggression is on the move again. And that is the best news to come from a week of numerous important happenings.

Wants To Pay Taxes

Greenland, for years a Danish colony, last year was made a part of Denmark and is now represented by two deputies in the Danish parliament. The deputies, speaking for all Greenland, commented appreciatively on their island's elevation to full family status and promptly upset precedent by asking for all their constituents the right to pay taxes.

It was a surprise move but there was method in it. Greenland desires a number of important public improvements and feels that its chances for getting them will be enhanced by a firm showing that it means to do its share.

In America we often overlook that principle. We like and demand the public services, but by habit we resist the taxes that provide them. We make less sense than does Greenland.

Editorial Of The Day

The Early Bird

(From The St. Louis Post-Dispatch)

Maine has hauled up the curtain on the 1954 Eisenhower midterm election by choosing its first Democratic governor for 20 years. In order to elect this Democrat, 40-year-old Edmund S. Muskie of Waterville, Maine voters did something they have not done within memory. They denied a Republican, Gov. Burton M. Cross, a second term.

The former Democratic legislator and naval veteran of the Pacific won by a generous margin, more than 22,000 votes. Thus his lead was approximately half that of the widely popular Republican senator, Mrs. Margaret Chase Smith, who won re-election by something more than 40,000. This makes Mrs. Smith's majority less than might have been expected and Gov. elect Muskie's far more than he or anyone else would have dreamed.

Mrs. Smith's decline in votes is almost as significant as the astonishing election of the Democratic governor. Six years ago when she was first elected to a six-year term, she carried Maine by almost 100,000 for a percentage of 71.4 of the votes. She goes back to the Senate this time with 58.4 per cent of the votes.

The big question is: How much do the Maine results reflect general voter attitudes toward the Eisenhower administration? Claims and denials are already the order of the day. But Vice President Nixon did his best to inject the Eisenhower issue into the campaign, by repeated visits to Maine where his family vacationed. He said the outcome would be a test of support for the President. Mr. Nixon thus laid the basis for claims that Chairman Hall of the GOP National Committee now must try to discount.

This much is sure: Maine has applied the Eisenhower 1952 campaign slogan, "It's time for a change," to its governorship. Now both parties will really go to work to win the governorships and congressional seats at stake seven weeks hence.

Midwest Resentment Against GOP Mounts

WASHINGTON — Some of Ike's own personal advisers, usually more hard-boiled than certain politicians around the Republican National Committee have been taking a careful look at the political horizon as a result of the Maine election, and what they see doesn't make them happy.

In the first place they admit that, despite genial Chairman Len Hall's optimistic statement, the Maine defeat resulted from much more than a local internal feud.

Popular Mrs. Smith's margins were the lowest in her career, while Congressman Bobby Hale, whose uncle was senator before him, and who bears a name as old as New England, squeaked through on only a hairs-breadth. Mrs. Smith reported privately that it was the toughest race she ever had.

On top of this, what worries Ike's advisers are reports from other areas. Usually rock-ribbed South Dakota has every indication of being up in arms over the farm legislation. The office of Sen. Case of South Dakota has passed on the word that his colleague, Sen. Mundt is headed for the sliffest race of his career. Even Nebraska, which hasn't elected a Democratic senator for years, is experiencing some unrest.

From Idaho, the realists send back word that Glenn Taylor, the cowboy Democrat who once before strummed his way into the Senate, is giving GOP Senator Dworshak the fight of his life and has a real chance of winning, unless a lot of money is poured into Idaho in October.

Reports from Kansas also indicate that the farmers, hitherto staunchly Republican, are going to give Senator Andy Scheppel a bad time. He's being opposed by ex-Sen. George McGill, who, ironically, was the father of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, back in 1934, which first initiated 'the principle of farm price supports so hotly debated of late.

As a result of all this, the old Citizens Committee for Eisenhower, which did such a good money-raising job during the presidential campaign and which has always functioned separately from the Republican National Committee, is getting into high gear. It's believed the trend can be stopped, but it will take a terrific fund-raising drive to do it.

Note—Politicoes are also counting on some indictments of Truman officials which the Justice Department has up its sleeve to help swing the election tide.

MAINE-WENT-ROUND

Believe it or not, but the Passamaquoddy project, much-maligned New Deal plan for harnessing the giant tides in Passamaquoddy Bay, has now been revived by the Republicans. This may be a key as to how far Maine veered over to the Democrats and even toward the New Dealers. . . . FDR launched the Passamaquoddy project chiefly because Maine needed an economic shot-in-the-arm when he entered the White House; also because as a youngster he had visited Quoddy, marveled at its giant tide drained of the power to be generated if it could be harnessed. . . . After he proposed a public-works project there, Quoddy, became a political football, was excoriated by GOP critics. . . . But in the last session of congress Sen. Margaret Chase Smith demanded an appropriation for a new survey of Quoddy—and got it through the Senate. To get it incidentally she had to pay a high price, namely cast her vote for the St. Lawrence Seaway, which hitherto she had opposed. . . . Observers estimate that the Republicans spent five times as much money in the Maine campaign as the Democrats. . . . news coverage was predominantly pro-Republican.

GERMANS REFUSE ARMS

Despite all the international furor about rearming Germany, Defense Secretary Wilson has just struck a secret policy order calling for U. S. arms shipments to Germany for 12 to 18 months after Secretary of State Dulles gives him the go-ahead signal.

A lot of well-laid Pentagon plans have been upset by this directive. For three years the Pentagon has been stockpiling guns, tanks and jeeps for the proposed new German army. Valued at nearly half a billion dollars, these arms would help create a 12-division 400,000-man army, an 80,000-man air force, and a 20,000-man coastal navy.

On Sept. 3, Gen. George C. Stewart, military aid director, announced that these arms would be given to Germany immediately after the agreements were signed. Inside a week, he told the press, trucks, jeeps, and military hardware borrowed from Gen. Gruenther's U. S. forces in Europe could roll across the Rhine.

Now this is all reversed. And the amazing thing is that it was reversed under pressure from the Germans themselves. The Pentagon will withhold the arms shipments until the Germans have trained men to use the arms.

What the Germans feared was that by rushing the hardware across the Rhine prior to training a German army, the United States would be inviting Russian aggression. Also there is a strong German minority opposed to rearmament, and the United States cannot afford to have it claim that Chancellor Adenauer is being pressured by the United States into rearming.

ARCH DONOVAN

In Step With The Sower

The Sower finds there are many unsung heroes in Nebraska and, strangely, some of them do not want their good deeds mentioned. They seem to get their satisfaction from accomplishment rather than from the plaudits of the multitude.

One such couple from Omaha was revealed at the recent pardon board meeting. They appear in behalf of, and agreed to sponsor an orphan who in their opinion had been led astray by reason of not having home environment and counseling.

This they agreed to provide although they made no emotional plea in behalf of the youth and left decision of whether he was to be pardoned entirely up to the board.

It was not a simple task they were undertaking. The youth has completed high school and they proposed to enter him in a university. He will live in their home as one of the family while attending college.

They are not neophytes making their first effort to improve the average of American citizens. Twice before they have taken waits into their home. One is now attending college in another state while the second is still in high school.

They are successfully proving their theory that the cure for juvenile delinquency must start in the home.

The practical efforts of this couple to combat juvenile delinquency started a chain reaction in the mind of Gov. Robert Crosby and he thought of the hundreds of businessmen and others who are now sponsoring and providing employment for young first offenders who have been granted paroles.

The governor announces that during the balance of his term, where conditions seem to warrant, he is going to write letters extending thanks and appreciation on behalf of the state of Nebraska for the practical way in which they are helping solve a growing problem rather than theorizing on what should be done.

Two state officials, both nominally Republicans, gave the Sower a "hard time" as they expressed vigorously their opinion that columnists and commentators "slant" their remarks to enhance their standing with their readers or listeners. Fortunately, probably because we were there in person, the Sower was excluded.

Their particular "gripe" was political. They pointed out that most magazines and columnists put Nebraska in the "safe" column for the Republican candidates for Congress and the Senate. This, they insist, is not borne out in their conversations with friends and acquaintances.

One, who is a farm operator, asserts that neighbors and others to whom he has talked, are opposed to the present farm program and say they will vote against the administration sponsoring it.

"Secretary Benson used the 'Bismarck plan' to protect the interests of the wool growers in his home state of Utah. Why not use it to protect the entire agricultural industry?" he inquired.

"Nebraska is a negative state," chimed in his companion. "The voters do not hesitate to point out what they don't like after they have left administrative planning to elected officials. Don't be surprised if some of those making predictions in September aren't sorry in November they took so much for granted."

The Sower is just reporting facts as he sees and hears them.

Virginia Piccolo, of the state fire marshal's office is seriously considering turning in her fire chief's helmet for the Hawshaw cap of a detective. The Sower hears. The reason—the caplet sneak thief who has made away with a number of women's purses, including Virginia's, has eluded the roving eye of Rindick Superintendent John Knickrehm.

Virginia's first thought was that others than herself might suffer loss. She immediately reported to stores that her "charge-plate" had been stolen so that they could watch sales. The purse was recovered in a waste paper that night, it having been dropped in a wash room waste container.

The money was gone, but Virginia was happy to recover her personal papers in the purse. Someone apparently saw her put her purse in a clothing cabinet in the office and watched for all staff members to be gone simultaneously.

A THOUGHT FOR THE SABBATH

Stories Of Famous Hymns

Let Jesus Come Into Your Heart

If you are tired of the load of your sin,
Let Jesus come into your heart;
If you desire a new life to begin,
Let Jesus come into your heart.

If 'tis for purity now that you sigh,
Let Jesus come into your heart;
Fountains for cleansing are flowing nearby,
Let Jesus come into your heart.

If there's a tempest your voice cannot still,
Let Jesus come into your heart;
If there's a void this world never can fill,
Let Jesus come into your heart.

If you would join the glad songs of the blest,
Let Jesus come into your heart;
If you would enter the mansions of rest,
Let Jesus come into your heart.

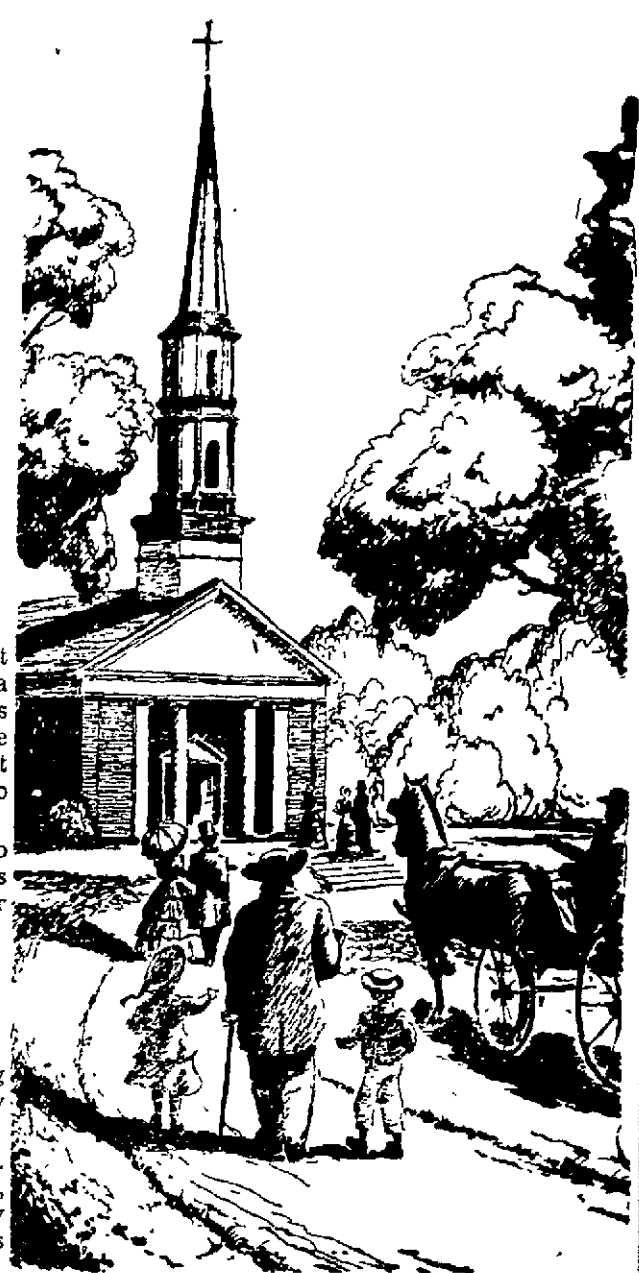

By HORACE B. POWELL

The nineteenth century was the era when interest in mass evangelism reached its peak across America and it was late in that century when C. H. Morris wrote this favorite revival hymn. His wife set the hymn poem to music and everyone who has sung it agrees that words and music are too well suited to each other ever to be separated.

It was a common practice among evangelists to use this hymn at the close of their revival meetings as a song of invitation to non-Christians to come over to Christ's side. Invariably, the popular chorus, "Just now your doubts give o'er
Just now reject him no more,
Just now throw open the door;
Let Jesus come into your heart!"

was sung over and over to encourage folks faltering on the brink of Christian decision to make their way to the altar or the prayer room.

Mrs. Morris wrote hymn poems as well as tunes. These included such favorites as "The Fight Is On", "Can The World See Jesus In You?", "If You Only Knew Jesus As I Do", and "Sweeter As The Years Go By."

- Hurry And Worry
- Jamaica, N. Y.
- To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The other day I read in the paper where a very learned doctor said that cigarettes and "coffee breaks" were giving ulcers to American ladies. I think this is ridiculous. What gives ulcers to the ladies in the United States—and gentlemen, too—is not the coffee break. It is hurry, hurry, hurry and worry, worry.
- In my city of Port Limon, Costa Rica, life is one long coffee break. Everybody drinks coffee from the time of waking to the time of going to sleep—and nobody has any ulcers. That is because in Port Limon we seldom worry, worry, worry and never under any circumstances do we hurry, hurry, hurry.
- What the American ladies need to do is to learn to relax when they take the coffee break. Maybe here in the U. S. it is not possible to relax as completely as we do in Port Limon, where time is something to be savored slowly, but if the ladies will sit back and enjoy drinking their coffee without haste, they will feel better. And, as in Port Limon, there'll be none of the ulcers that come from hurry-worry.
- JOSE RIVERA GONZALEZ
3. What is the "relationship of the elementary program to the secondary program" with which the teachers working on revision were concerned (p. 36)?
4. Do junior high school students really learn electronic fundamentals (p. 42) in order to understand graphs? Are these "motivating devices" used so much that they take up time which should be used for serious reflection and drill?
5. Are children ever taught to attack a problem by thinking it through, on the basis of some general idea, as well as by manipulating interesting gadgets? Or are the gadgets the ends in themselves?
6. The statement of aims of the senior high school program (p. 45) is for the most part a good statement of high principle, after the English is smoothed up a bit. But how do courses that many students take, such as "general mathematics" and "bookkeeping" do any one of the things therein mentioned?
7. Item two on p. 45 states the aim of helping those students interested in mathematics to assume their responsibilities in our technological society. What about those not interested?
8. Why is no mention made of the place of mathematics in the study of history, the importance of mathematics in understanding the English language, or the role of mathematics in teaching analytical thinking?
9. Why are the laudable objectives of the senior high school program postponed so long?
10. Does bookkeeping actually count as high school mathematics credit?
11. How is it that students apply measurements to make an analytical approach to a problem (p. 54)? Has the pragmatic approach overruled the process of analytical thinking so completely that "measurement" and "analysis" are synonyms?
- I must emphasize my feeling that the teachers of the Lincoln schools are conscientious, hard-working, and underpaid, and make it clear that these remarks are in no way intended as an attack against them. The point is that our educational ideologies, or at least our methods, are up for serious discussion and it is our responsibility to be critical.

OFF THE RECORD

Criticism A Duty

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Parents of Lincoln public school children have recently received a pamphlet issued by the superintendent of schools, titled "Mathematics in the Lincoln Public Schools." This document is one for which the schools are to be commended, insofar as it shows clearly some of the new techniques for teaching mathematics. The booklet is interesting, well illustrated and attractive.

The appearance of this kind of book at a time when controversy over our public schools is increasing may be significant. The public schools should indeed be public—the people should know what their schools are doing. They have the duty to find out, to interpret and evaluate the schools' activities, and if necessary, to demand changes. Co-operation of school officials by means of such efforts as issuing this book is heartening, if the intent is giving information and not merely indoctrination.

In the interest of stimulating discussion, I should like to point out that if the public schools feel that they are on trial in the public mind, pamphlets such as they may be excellent propaganda slanted for the schools, and that they should therefore be studied carefully. I should also like to point out that the report is not a comprehensive report of what is being done, as much as it is a description of some new teaching techniques.

So-called modern educationists have been accused by some competent critics as having neglected the fundamentals of liberal education by filling the curriculum with time-consuming "projects," field trips, life-adjustment courses and assorted trivia. I make no such accusations here of the Lincoln schools, but I suggest that it is the duty of every thinking Lincoln citizen to ask certain questions about the latest school report in light of the fact that such accusations have been made by intelligent and learned men. Among the questions I would suggest are the following:

1. Why are we led to believe that the curriculum revision of 1953-54 is largely responsible for the difference in test scores from 1932 to 1954, when most or all of the advance may have been made prior to 1953? And if this is not the case, why weren't test scores for 1952-53 included in the report?

2. Were the tests given in 1954 identical with those given in 1932, or did they merely have the same name (p. 6)?

Comforting counsel and sympathetic guidance in time of bereavement.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Arch Donovan, this newspaper's statehouse staffer and political writer, came away from the Republican post-primary convention held in Norfolk Thursday with one new impression. . . . Secretary of Agriculture Benson, main attraction for this post-primary gathering, may be in for trouble from an unsuspected source. . . . Surprisingly, Nebraska cattle feeders—heretofore regarded as more friendly to the Benson program and hostile to rigid price supports—are not happy. . . . They are not happy because some of their spokesmen claim they have not been making money, since Benson began to shape the destiny of agriculture—with the enthusiastic approval of President Eisenhower.

Mr. Benson is an adroit politician. It may be that a good many of his critics have underestimated the man's agility in front of the microphone. He spent a great deal of time talking about the recent Democratic gathering at Sioux Falls, addressed by Adlai Stevenson. . . . Mr. Stevenson, Benson insisted, had pulled the rug out from under the Democratic party because the Democratic candidate for President in 1952 had said at Sioux Falls that 90 per cent supports are not necessarily the permanent or the only answer. "Stevenson," Benson continued, "said not one word to indicate that high rigid price supports would be reinstated if he were President." Actually the record shows that Mr. Stevenson declared that 90 per cent supports should have been continued "at this time." And if they had been continued at this time, it logically follows that there was no necessity for a man's suggesting that they should be reinstated.

Secretary Benson seems wholly incapable of understanding the real basis of a mounting farm rebellion. The income which the farmer receives is diminishing. The farmer's costs are increasing. Now, Mr. Benson can spill a million words but nothing he says blots out the fact that in these midwestern states, farm people find themselves in far less satisfactory financial position than they were before Mr. Benson and his aides started messing around. The secretary of agriculture should have been exposed to the real undercurrents in Nebraska when he met with a delegation of northeast Nebraska cattle feeders who explained their plight to him and sought his answers. The president of the Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association, M. J. Hanking of Stanton, told Mr. Benson that since 1951, farm prices have dropped 18.2 per cent while food prices are up 1 per cent to the housewife.

And what was Secretary Benson's answer to that? He told the livestock feeders that they should contact the University of Nebraska Agricultural College and have a survey made. Well, a survey is an excellent thing and the more research that can be devoted to increasing agriculture's prosperity, the better, but for the man engaged at this time in feeding livestock, losing his shirt or any part of it, Mr. Benson's answer is no answer at all. Nor did his actions taken as recently as three days ago give any assurance to more than 40,000 wheat growers. Mr. Benson reduced the support price for the 1955 wheat crop 18 cents a bushel from the pegged price of 1954.

It will cost Nebraskans not less than $10 million in marketing the 1955 harvest to adjust themselves to Mr. Benson's flexible price support program. That may be chicken feed in some thinking, but out here in this state it represents a tidy sum of money. What Mr. Benson fails to recognize is that the Nebraska farmer, along with rural groups in other states, resents the steps which have been taken and which to a very considerable degree if not in full have resulted in a sharp decrease in the income of rural America.

'We Love Everybody, They Love Us'—

Cashier Who Accepted $417,000 Bad Checks Was Just 'Indulgent'

WHITESVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Calls of sympathy Friday poured into the home of Bernard Barrett, a kind-hearted cashier who let $417,000 in bad checks pile up and close his bank.

There were no immediate offers of assistance, however, from the depositors who benefitted from his generosity.

The mild-mannered Barrett, 51, a church-going leader in this western Kentucky community of 750 persons, said he received no personal profit from the transactions. He was charged with misapplying the bank's funds and was free under bond of $25,000.

Hope For Recovery
Wilburn Simpson, president of the bank, said the check-writers were known and that a couple of those more deeply involved had assets that gave hope for recovery of much of the shortage.

"I understand the law to be that anyone who knowingly issues checks against insufficient funds is a party to the crime," Simpson said. "I feel we can make substantial recoveries."

The bank president said neither he nor the examiners could explain why the deficit wasn't caught in previous audits, adding that the examiners told him it was uncovered "by accident" this time.

Kind-Hearted
"There may have been some juggling of the accounts but we just don't know now," Simpson stated. He said Barrett was a "kind-hearted man but a victim of poor judgment."

He also disclosed that Barrett's wife worked alongside her husband at the bank "but had no idea anything was wrong."

Simpson himself described Barrett as a man "regarded by everybody as absolutely tops in the community—the last man in the whole town you'd expect something like this to happen to."

No Panic
He said the bank's closing created no unusual excitement because the depositors knew their money was well protected.

He explained that the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. covered deposits up to $10,000 and there were few depositors over $10,000 in a town as small as Whitesville. On top of that, Barrett's bond covers $50,000.

Barrett stated simply that he "had the habit of indulging our customers" by "holding checks for different people." He said he had no idea the amount was so great, and that he expected the checks to be made good.

State bank examiners, FDIC representatives and FBI agents closed themselves up in conferences on the situation. They gave out no details.

'Enormous Lot'
Mrs. Barrett, speaking for her husband, said she knew only that there were an "enormous lot" of checks and that some of them were "pretty big." She said she understood two persons benefitted from the system more than others.

"We have been getting calls all day," she said, "from friends who want to express sympathy and their confidence. We love everybody and we know everybody loves us."

Mrs. Bernice L. Way, 3201 Starr, was named junior vice president of the national Daughters of Union Veterans at the annual convention in Portland, Ore.

Mrs. Way, who was national chaplain last year and national patriotic instructor the year before, is past president of Sarah D. Gillespie Tent 7, DUV, of Lincoln.

South Street Temple Installs Rabbi

Rabbi Must Be Guide, Counselor, Teacher, Says Installation Speaker
A rabbi must not be a dictatorial authority but rather a teacher of Judaism, a persuasive guide and counselor to his congregation.

That was the thought expressed by Rabbi Herman E. Schaalmann, director of the Federation of Reformed Temples in Chicago, who delivered the sermon at the installation service Friday for South Street Temple's new rabbi, Rabbi Wolfgang Hamburger.

"There has been a change in the last few generations between the rabbi and his congregation," Rabbi Schaalmann said. "There is a more democratic movement today and the trend is toward congregational participation in every phase of the program and worship."

Rabbi Schaalmann said the rabbi's principal responsibility today is to instruct in the teachings of the faith.

South Street Temple's new rabbi was born in Germany and came to the U.S. in 1947. He holds a master of arts degree from the Hebrew Union College in Cincinnati. For the past two years, he has served the Hyde Park Liberal Congregation in Chicago.

Prior to the installation service at the temple, a dinner was held in honor of the new rabbi and the guest speaker at the Cornhusker Hotel by members of the Temple board and their wives.

M. S. Elrod of Greenwood, trucker, was reported in good condition at Lincoln General.

Chickens, Gas Stolen From McCaffery Farm
Theft of 25 to 30 chickens and about 70 gallons of gasoline from his place has been reported by Joe McCaffery, who lives 1½ miles northeast of Davey, to the Sheriff's office. The loss was estimated at about $50.

Halley Sentenced In Forgery Case
John Henry Halley, 45, of Kirksville, Mo., was sentenced to three years in the Penitentiary after he had pleaded guilty in Lancaster District Court to a forgery charge.

Halley was charged with uttering a forged check for $10 on Aug. 26 to Holly's Market. The name of "Lewis Workman" was attached to the check.

Judge Paul White, who pronounced sentence, noted that Halley had served two prison terms since 1939, one involving similar conviction.

Posters Recall Chautauqua Days

DAVID CITY, Neb. (AP)—Two posters, which had rested unnoticed below some windows of a drug store for many years, brought back some old memories to long-time residents of David City.

One of the relics advertised the David City Chautauqua Assembly, Aug. 2-10, 1913. An impressive list of entertainers and speakers took part in the program.

The other poster advertised a football game between Nebraska Military Academy and David City High School on Friday, Oct. 24. The date for the event was not given.

The charge for the game was 25 cents and it was held at Eiting's Park, now the site of the David City feed mill. "Football," the poster said, "cannot be carried on without your support."

2 Concordia Inauguration Services Set

SEWARD, Neb. (AP)—Two special events have been planned Sunday to highlight the formal installation of Dr. Paul A. Zimmerman as fifth president of Concordia Teachers College.

There will be the morning installation service at St. John's Lutheran Church and an afternoon inauguration ceremony in the college chapel-auditorium. The Rev. A. F. Wegner of Chappell, president of the Southern Nebraska District, Missouri Synod, will speak at the morning service.

The rite of installation will be performed by the Rev. O. A. Graebner of Grand Island and a member of the college board of control. The linguist will be The Rev. Martin Yauck of Seward. Concordia College Choir will furnish the music.

At the afternoon meeting, the public inauguration will be held. Representatives from the Lutheran Church's 14 colleges and seminaries will be present. The principal speaker will be Dr. Carl S. Munding, president of St. John's College, Winfield, Kan.

Dr. Martin Need, executive secretary of the board for higher education, Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, will give the inaugural ceremony. Dr. Henry A. Koenig of the Concordia faculty will be the liturgist.

Fred Telschow of the faculty will be the organist and Concordia Choir will sing under the direction of Dr. Theo G. Stelzer and Floyd Quist. A reception at Brommer hall will follow.

Hog Raisers Get The Latest Word

More Efficient Pork Production Stressed At NU Rooters' Day

The emphasis was on more efficient pork production at the 19th annual Rooters' Day held at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture Friday.

Dr. L. N. Hazel, Iowa State College, Ames, told swine producers that overfat hogs produce too much lard as well as low-quality pork. In emphasizing the need for producing meaty hogs he said "we hear more about the lard problem, but ready consumer acceptance is more important to the future of the swine industry. This becomes more evident as competition from the other meat industries is felt."

An important contributing factor in the incidence of overfat hogs, he said, has been the lack of price differentials for quality hogs. There is every indication that the situation is changing as packers modify their purchasing methods in response to consumer demands for quality pork, he said.

Rapid Nutrition Progress

Dr. R. C. Wahlstrom, South Dakota State college, told farmers that the progress in the field of swine nutrition has been especially rapid in the past five years. This was when the first experimental work on antibiotic was reported. This work led us to the following observations, he said. For growing-fattening pigs from weaning to market, gains are increased from 20 to 25 per cent on the average and slightly less feed, 3 to 5 per cent, is generally required per 100 pounds of gain.

Feed consumption is increased up to 20 per cent when antibiotics are fed and water intake is correlated directly with feed intake, he added. Missouri workers, he said, Research Emphasized

R. J. Meade, assistant professor of animal husbandry at the College of Agriculture here, told the swine growers researchers are helping them solve feeding and breeding problems. He said, "We have fed suckling pigs pre-starter early in the suckling period and followed these with a high quality pig starter."

Tragic End Comes To Romance Starting In Australia

Young Father Kills His Wife, Self

OMAHA (U)—A young couple, who fell in love and married in Australia, died side-by-side in the kitchen of her parents' home here.

Police said Jules Ritka, 27, fired at his father-in-law, Ralph M. Drake, 54, through a window, then charged into the kitchen, pumped at least 10 bullets into his wife's body, and then shot himself to death.

Drake, who police said suffered at least five bullet wounds, was reported in serious but improved condition late Friday. He is a salesman for Swift & Co., meat packers.

Investigating officers said Mrs. Ritka filed suit for divorce Aug. 17, charging her husband with extreme cruelty and took her daughter, Rita, 2, with her to live at the Drake home.

Drake was eating watermelon in the living room of his home when a shot was fired through a window. He leaped, ran across the room and picked up a small table to use as a shield as he crashed through a screen door.

Fired 10 Bullets
Police said Ritka charged into the house, going to the kitchen where he found his mother-in-law, Mrs. Alice Drake, 53, his wife and daughter.

Ritka warned Mrs. Drake to get back and she grabbed Rita from her daughter's arms and fled to another room. Ritka fired at least 10 bullets into his wife's body.

Police said Ritka then went outside where Drake was trying to rouse neighbors and fired again at his father-in-law. Ritka then went back to the kitchen and shot himself in the forehead.

The gun, investigating officers said, still had a price tag attached.

A sales slip showed Ritka had bought the Mossberg automatic at an Omaha department store.

Mrs. Ritka, then Beverly Drake, decided upon leaving Iowa State College in June of 1950 to make a trip around the world with a friend, Phyllis Burke. The Drakes lived in Des Moines then.

The two girls worked their way to Ireland aboard a steamer, visited Europe and the Middle East, finally going to Singapore and Australia.

Beverly met Ritka, a young Hungarian in Australia, and they were married July 13, 1951, at Launceston, Tasmania. Rita was born Aug. 14, 1952.

The couple lived in Australia about a year, later coming to the United States. Ritka sometimes worked as a machinist, but his wife told a friend recently her husband did not adjust well to America and often quit his jobs.

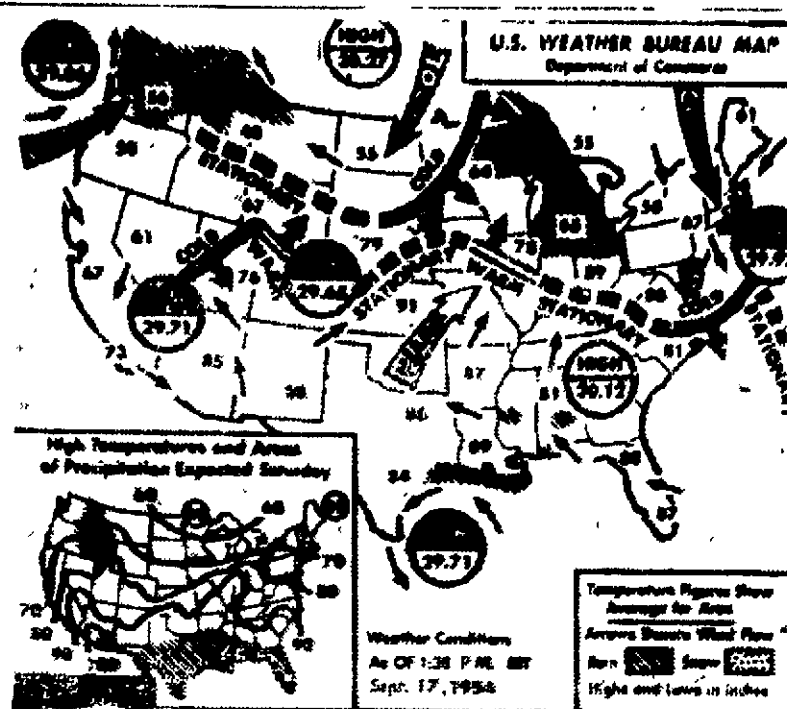

After filing suit for divorce last month, Mrs. Ritka obtained a job as a case-worker with the Douglas County assistance bureau.

Ritka went to Wichita, apparently in search of work. In his pocket police found two letters from Beverly. They dealt with family affairs, life insurance premiums and other bills coming due.

"He must have gone berserk at the thought of the divorce coming up," commented detective Inspector Ernest Brown.

New Aurora High School Is Proposed

AURORA, Neb. (U)—Hamilton County voters living in School District 4-R will ballot Oct. 19 on a proposal to issue $550,000 in bonds for construction of a new high school here.

Board Secretary John W. Newman said the Aurora district and 27 rural districts in Hamilton County reorganized into the new district last July 1 and as a result faces the problem of housing additional students.

The kindergarten presently is housed in the basement of the Aurora Library.

The Board of Education hopes to build a new high school building and shift some of the elementary grades into one of the buildings now used for the high school. Also included is a proposal to locate a junior high school in one of the present high school buildings.

Is Bride At Evening Ceremony

White cathedral candles burning in bronze candelabra, and tall arrangements of white chrysanthemums and pink gladioli, appointed the chancel of Grace Lutheran Church Friday evening, Sept. 17, for the marriage of Miss Barbara Jane Dickinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Major Q. Dickinson, and William Dale Stark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry I. Stark of Dallas, Tex. The ceremony was solemnized by Dr. Leland Leshner.

As the candles were lighted by Mrs. Rollin Mead of North Platte and Mrs. Clifford Erickson, wearing choir robes of white satin, Mrs. Thomas Graham, organist, presented a prelude including "Oh Promise Me", "Through The Years", and "O Perfect Love". Mrs. Graham also played the wedding music.

Mrs. Paul Hartman, as her sister's matron of honor, appeared in a ballerina-length frock of cameo pink crystalite. The strapless basque was touched with embroidery and covered by a short-sleeved jacket, and the embroidered motif was repeated in the trim of the flaring skirt. She carried a cascade of pale green-tinted carnations. Costumed identically in chartreuse crystalite and carrying pink carnations were the bridesmaids, Mrs. Jim Weber of Hastings, Mrs. Don Dickinson and Mrs. Harry Becker.

The bride's gown of candlelight tulle and satin was designed in the 18th Century mode. The décolletage of the snug bodice was filled in with narrow-tucked tulle, and the sleeves were long and fitted. Shirred into fullness, the tulle skirt was completed by an overskirt of the satin, which extended into a train, and a cap of lace patterned with seed pearls held her veil of illusion. She carried an arrangement of cream-toned gladioli and stephanotis.

Jim Weber of Hastings served as best man, and seating the guests were Tom Shanahan of Argo, Ill., Don Dickinson, Paul Hartman and Harry Becker.

Immediately following the 8 o'clock ceremony, a reception for 200 guests was held in the church parlors.

Mr. and Mrs. Stark will make their home in Dallas, Tex. A former student at the University of Nebraska, Mr. Stark is a graduate of the University of Miami and a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. The bride is a member of Upsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

JUST been peering between the covers of our little red book and we're convinced that the football season will be better than ever—socially speaking that is—and we're living in anticipation. As far as the town is concerned the season will get off to a big start two weeks from today when Nebraska plays its first home game—

BUT between now and then there are weddings, and this morning we have news of the brides-elect who are to tread the processional aisles on Sept. 25—Miss Kathryn Swanson, who is to marry Jerry Druliner—Sept. 26—Miss Nancy Farnsworth who becomes the bride of John Graf Jr.—Sept. 28, Miss Kay Kimmel whose marriage to Tracy Clark will be solemnized on that date.

The last round of prenuptial courtesies for Miss Swanson and Mr. Druliner begins on Sunday when Miss Jacquelyn Merritt will be a hostess at her home. Miss Merritt has invited the members of the bridal party for an 11:30 o'clock brunch.

ON Monday evening Miss Swanson and her fiancé will be honored when Mr. and Mrs. James Stuart and Mr. and Mrs. George B. Cook are hosts and hostesses at a "fish-fry" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart, and when the guest list will include the members of the bridal party, and the families.

THE Tuesday calendar lists two parties involving Miss Swanson and Mr. Druliner—The first, for the bride-elect, is a luncheon for which Mrs. A. H. Kurtz will be hostess at the Lincoln Country Club. And Tuesday evening Miss Swanson and Mr. Druliner will share honors at a family dinner when Mr. and Mrs. John Lawlor and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jenkins, entertain at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawlor.

LUNCHEON on Wednesday, for which Mrs. Vance Traphagen and her daughter, Mrs. Tom Yates of New York City, will be hostesses is the finale of the courtesies—

HAVE two more parties this morning for Miss Nancy Farnsworth—On Monday the bride-elect will be honored when Miss Charlotte Hervet and Miss Nancy Norman are hostesses at a dessert supper at the home of Miss Hervet. NEXT Thursday Miss Farnsworth and her fiancé will be complimented by Mr. and Mrs. Wood Shurtliff who will entertain at a buffet at the University Club. TODAY is the day that Miss Natalie Nelson will be hostess at luncheon at her home when she entertains in prenuptial courtesy to Miss Kay Kimmel. Following luncheon the afternoon will be spent informally, and the 12 guests will present the soon-to-be bride with a china shower.

Ann Lundy Is Welcomed Home

As a welcome home to Miss Ann Lundy, who has spent the past two years abroad with her parents, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Walter Lundy, Miss Beate Beutel was hostess at a luncheon on Friday at her home.

tending the Sorbonne, will be a senior at the University of Nebraska this year. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Roy Kile with whom she will reside.

President's Two Wives Get Indonesia's Dander Up

Women Say It's Legal But 'Taint Cricket

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—The news that Indonesia's President Soekarno eloped to the mountains with a divorcee and took her as wife No. 2 stirred a tempest over polygamy in this far-flung island republic Friday. It's all legal under the Moslem religion and Indonesian civil law but newspapers talked of political repercussions and 24 women's organizations summoned by feminist groups campaigning for a women's bill of rights met in the nation's capital to discuss plural matrimony in the presidential palace. The President, a Moslem, may have as many as four wives. A leader of the feminist group fighting polygamy said the President's example now "may have adverse effects on our goal."

The women met in closed session and were reported to have agreed that a delegation be sent direct to the presidential household "to obtain official information." Then, an informed feminist source said, the women would meet again tomorrow and plan action.

The sudden spurge of publicity and the feminist reaction clearly shocked Indonesian government circles. Several newspapers said they feared the issue would be seized upon by Soekarno's political opponents and "made a political football."

Police said the stabbing took place after Luther and a companion reportedly approached Dr. Thompson as he sat in his car with Luther's wife, Eva, 34.

After questioned at the Police Station Friday, the nattily dressed psychology professor was taken to County Jail to await action by a grand jury. He is being held without charge.

NORTHEAST STUNS GRAND ISLAND

Rockets Use Teamwork To Gain 13-12 Upset

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Member

Surprising Northeast beat Grand Island 13-12 at Magee Stadium Friday night, exploding two myths and giving notice that one more name belongs in the list of the state's prep football elite.

Quarterback John Douthit, Halfback Dee Haas and End Harry Large wiped out the legend of an "unbeatable" Grand Island team which had won 11 straight games. They and their teammates also destroyed the misconception that the Rockets are weak sisters—an idea which sprang up after last week's ragged 12-6 win over Nebraska City.

The Grand Island team which Northeast beat Friday night did look like the team which had rambled at will over 11 straight opponents. Gone were the devastating ends sweeps of Claire Boroff and Darrell Pinkston. Gone was the Islanders' ability to score however and whenever they pleased.

Fine Team
But it was still a fine football team that Northeast beat. Terry Trueblood quarterbacked the Islanders efficiently, and GI rolled up 16 first downs. Boroff and Fullback Cliff Nelson dented the Rocket line for some good gains—but no touchdowns.

Northeast gave a capacity crowd an indication of the upset with only 1:17 gone in the game. After Dick Beachell had returned the kickoff to the 30-yard line and Haas had moved over left tackle to the 33, the Rockets flashed their good aerial attack for the first time.

Haas took a pitchout from Douthit, ran to his right and passed to Large on the Grand Island 30. Large was all alone when he caught the pass and outran safety man Boroff to score.

Try Blocked
LeRoy Mink blocked Haas's extra-point try.
Then the Northeast defense took over and began to mold what Coach Ben Galloway referred to as "a real team victory." With Guard Ted Ritchey leading the defensive line, Northeast was able to stop Grand Island when the chips were down.

The first few times Grand Island took possession of the ball, the Rockets and their followers wondered when the lightning would strike. By the end of the first quarter, it appeared that perhaps it wouldn't strike at all. The Douthit-Haas-Large combination clicked again early in the second quarter after Grand Island's offense had been stopped for the third time.

Douthit passed to End Larry Bryant for 10 yards to open the second quarter. The play put Northeast on its 43-yard line.

Perfect Strike
On the next play Haas hit Large with another perfect strike after taking a lateral from Douthit. Large again outran Boroff to score on a 57-yard play. Haas kicked the game-winning extra point.

Grand Island scored against the Northeast second team in the closing minutes of the half. A quick kick by Northeast went out of bounds on the Rocket 31 and the Islanders scored in six plays.

Bob Sigons and Nelson carried the ball on the short drive, with Trueblood going the last six yards on two wedge plays. Boroff's placement attempt was wide and Northeast had a 13-6 halftime lead.

24-Yard Pass
Gene Suponchick hit Ron Fall-dorf with a 24-yard pass which carried to the Northeast 23 as the half ended.

Grand Island drives failed twice in the third quarter, and Northeast had started a potential touchdown march when a fluke gave the Islanders a scoring chance they didn't muff.

Large into the arms of Islander Back Nelson on the Grand Island 45.

Nelson lost a yard on an attempt through the Northeast middle, but on the next play Trueblood flipped a 33-yard pass to Boroff.

Trueblood went seven yards to the 16, and Boroff crossed the 11 on two line smashes.

Pinkston Scores
Then Pinkston, who had left the game with an ankle injury early in the second quarter, came off the bench to score the final touchdown. He breezed around right end and just plain outran the defense to score with a minute gone in the last quarter.

A stratagem which didn't work cost the Islanders a tie on the conversion attempt. Boroff faked a placement and Trueblood, trying to pass, was snowed under on the 10-yard line.

Northeast then marched 58 yards in a time-consuming drive before GI got a last chance. A flurry of desperation passes by Gene Suponchick and Trueblood was unsuccessful against a Northeast pass defense led by Haas and Dick Beachell.

Truman Advises Ike To Ask For Demo Congress To 'Save Him From His Own Party'

INDIANAPOLIS (U.P.)—Harry S. Truman asked the American people Friday to give President Eisenhower a Democratic Congress in the "hope that we can save him from the misdeeds of his own party."

In a letter to Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell, the former President said, "the worst thing the Republicans have done is to weaken the position of the free nations in the fight against Communist imperialism." Eisenhower, he said, needs a Democratic Congress in order to "go down in history as a successful President, who helped to save the free world."

Mitchell released the letter at a news conference as Democratic leaders headed into a strategy session to chart their campaign to toss the GOP out of control of Congress in the November election. The chairman told newsmen the tide is running for party candidates and "gaining in momentum." "Generally speaking," he said, "I think we have in the making the greatest Democratic sweep since 1936."

That was the presidential election year in which the GOP salvaged only Maine and Vermont from a Roosevelt landslide. While Mitchell contends the Democrats may take some 40 House seats from the Republicans, he described the scrap for control of the Senate as still unsettled and "awfully close."

The chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, Rep. Michael J. Kirwan of Ohio, had an even more optimistic forecast than Mitchell on House contests. He said in an interview: "We can't help but pick up 60 seats at the minimum."

The House now has 218 Republican members, 213 Democrats, one Independent and three empty seats. The Senate lineup is 48 Republicans, 47 Democrats and one Independent.

Truman had hoped to attend the Democratic rally here launching the Democratic drive to regain control of Congress. But he still is recuperating from a June operation and will make only one major campaign speech, at Kansas City Oct. 16.

In his letter to Mitchell he said there never was a time when the country "needed a Democratic victory more than it does this year."

Party leaders, Mitchell included, are saying here that economic conditions will be a basic campaign issue and Truman sided in with that view, too.

"The election of a Democratic Congress," the former President said, "will restore confidence in our economic expansion, shore up the declining earnings of our workers, and protect the hard-won rights of the working man from the whittling-away process that is now going on."

Truman said election of a Democratic Congress won't provide a complete remedy for what he called "this awful world situation," since, he said, Congress is not primarily responsible for it. But he said restoring Democratic control of Congress will "help very much."

He said it seemed to him that Eisenhower "should be secretly wishing for a Democratic Congress," since "he is pledged to a foreign policy of cooperation with other free nations, but a majority of his party leaders are against it."

Provided the executive branch of does its part, Truman said, election of a Democratic Congress will make it possible to reassert America's "rightful leadership" in the "fight against Communist imperialism."

In Washington, GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall said in a statement that when the people consider "the Truman administration record on Korea, corruption and communism in the world, they are very likely to do the opposite of what Mr. Truman suggests."

Joseph Vachal To Be Sent To Juvenile Institution

3-Year Term In Federal Custody Given For Holdup Of Malmö Bank

Joseph A. Vachal, 17-year-old, Prague, Neb., high school senior, who was prosecuted as a juvenile delinquent in connection with the Malmö bank robbery, was sentenced Friday in U.S. District Court to three years in the custody of the U.S. Attorney General.

The attorney general, in turn, will name the institution at which the three years will be served. For juvenile offenders, commitment is usually on one of two federal correctional institutions. One is in Washington, D.C., and the other at Inglewood, Colo., a suburb of Denver.

Enters Guilty Plea

Appearing before Federal District Judge John W. Delehant, Vachal pleaded guilty to an information charging him with juvenile delinquency under the federal statutes.

His plea was entered after Judge Delehant explained at length the possible length of sentence under the information.

Judge Delehant explained to the youth he could be placed on probation or committed to federal custody for the "length of your minority" (Vachal will be 21 years of age on April 16, 1958.)

The maximum sentence as juvenile delinquent is further limited by the maximum possible sentence under the connected crime, the court explained. Maximum for robbery is 20 years.

Atty. Henry Winters of Omaha, counsel for the youth, told the court that "Joe does not fit into the general pattern of juvenile offenders," explaining that there's been no trouble in his home, no lack of education for the youth, or mental instability.

"I've tried to find out what motivated Joe in his offense," Winters said. "It seems to be the ordinary thing that high school boys have cars—sometimes it's a necessity."

Winters explained that Vachal was never denied the use under ordinary circumstances of his parents' 1949 model car, or a 1941 in possession of the family.

However, the youth did prevail upon his father to allow him to obtain a late model car, Winters said.

(Vachal told arresting officers that "I didn't want to see my father paying for my car.")

Winters said the pistol was purchased two or three weeks before the holdup, but that he believed

Vachal got the idea for robbery only a day or two before the crime and "without mature reflection."

"I am convinced that if Joe had been resisted in the robbery, he would have made no defense," the attorney said.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Delehant said he had considered probation.

But the act was "not only an attack upon property, but was also a threat to human life," the judge said.

The amount of money and the place of the robbery is in a sense immaterial, Judge Delehant said. The crime involved "an act of violence in which you (Vachal) or others might have been killed," he told the youth.

Joseph's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Vachal, Prague farm folks, and several townspeople were spectators.

Young Vachal was arrested two days after the Sept. 8 holdup of the Security Home Bank at Malmö by a lone gunman who got away with $900.

Vachal, admitting the robbery, said he stole the money to pay for a car he purchased in Schuyler about two weeks earlier. The car, used in the get-away, led to the youth's detection.
